Kingdom Family Summary

by Tim Tripp

I hope you all have enjoyed this "Kingdom Family" series as much as the ministers have enjoyed preaching it. We all are passionate about West Side families pursuing what it means to be a Kingdom Family. We hope you have found it helpful.

The series draws its premise from the fact that when God called the family of Israel out of their slavery in Egypt, he called them to be a "kingdom of priests" and a "holy nation" (Exodus 19:6). He promised to give them a land 'flowing with milk and honey' if they would keep his laws and serve only him. Before they entered into the promised land, he reminded them that they should be careful to teach their children his laws and his ways daily so that they could enjoy being in that land for generations.

A church that takes this generational vision seriously should have a plan and communicate this plan to carry out God's mission in our families, our church and our world. Each family is a building block of the kingdom. Each building block carries the gospel and demonstrates God's word and his will to the world and through the generations filling both space and time.

Zac spoke of "Parenting in the Age of Permissiveness." He made the point that the objectives between parenting from the world's perspective and from the perspective of Christian parents is vastly different and the chasm is growing. The world says that children can choose whatever they want. The Bible says that Christians should raise their kids to do what God wants.

Josh spoke of the importance of parents making disciples of their own kids. He mentioned the key element of being intentional in training their children to follow Christ. Parents should lift their children up as the sycamore tree did for Zacchaeus, so that they can see Jesus.

Tim introduced four essential elements of Kingdom Families, presence, priority, service and holiness. In the message on presence, Tim indicated the importance of parents leading children into worship; not just in church but in the home. He said parents should consider reading the Bible with kids, doing devotionals with kids, praying with kids and doing family worship. Parents should make sure that they and their children spend time in the presence of the king every day.

Mark spoke of the "Kingdom Priority"; being sure that kingdom things come before other things. He reminded us that parents get more time with kids than either church or school and must use that time wisely and intentionally.

Jake spoke of "Obedience to the King." He indicated the importance of walking with children in doing the things Jesus did. Serving together as a family is one example he mentioned as a way to teach kids to be obedient.

This morning Tim will wrap it up by speaking of "Bearing the Image of the King." We take God's image into the world by letting others see Jesus living in us. Holy living, being set apart and different will be the way we make that happen.

Our goal as a church family is to resource, enable and support parents in the church to become parents who disciple their children as a first priority, helping them to become a Kingdom Family. May God bless us as we walk together in this all-important goal.

DIOS LE BENDIGA! (God Bless You!)

by Aris Ortiz

Our life is subject to time. Time began when "God created the heavens and earth" The first second, the first minute, the first hour, the first day... Time started to count for this creation, for the life that God created. "There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under the heavens" every thing has a beginning and has an end. So, you and I are subject to time. Our clock is ticking adding the minute, the hour to the time of our end in this life. We all have 24 hours a day. We all have the same days and weeks like everybody else that God has given life. But when the last day will come for us; the last hour, and the last minute, the last second... what value time will have for God? Well, that will depend how we are using our time right now that God as giving us! Are we using time according to God's plans? Time is passing so fast that we sometimes think about our past, like it was an "illusion" We are in God's time, and time is running out for us. Let us use God's time, to serve God... our West Side family!

DIOS LES BENDIGA!
