Led Leaders

March 12, 2017

by Tim Tripp

We don't often think of the first church, the church in Jerusalem as being problematic but it was. We don't often think of the first church of lacking in leadership but it was at least in one instance. In Acts chapter six, Luke gives us at least one example of a problem that was so difficult that the apostles had to add a layer of leadership to the church in order to address it. The problem was one with which we might empathize because it was fueled with prejudice and implied ethnic bias. It was a difficult issue swollen with emotion and accusation. It had the potential to be the first real division in the church and that less than 5 years after Jesus ascended into heaven.

Widows formed a special segment of the underclass in Israel. If they didn't have a son who was willing and able to care for their needs once their husbands died, they really only had two choices prostitution or begging. Thousands of older women in and around Jerusalem had been forced upon the death of their husbands to release any dignity they had and join the ranks of those around the temple, along the roads and in the marketplace who held out dirty hands and asked random strangers for money. The Jesus followers in Jerusalem gained a reputation of having compassion on the widows in town. The church became an organization from which the indigent widows might receive blessings of food that church members donated for their cause. Apparently, the list was a long one and the task of getting food to those widows became burdensome. Amidst the chore of distributing the food some widows were missed. Regularly or occasionally we are not told but we are told that it was noticed. While all the widows were Jewish, some of them were from Jerusalem and the surrounding area while others had only moved back to Jerusalem later in life. It wasn't uncommon for Jewish men of that day to live most of their lives in the diaspora (outside of Israel) but desire to return to Jerusalem to die and there to be buried. That left many widows who had no way to support themselves, no family in the area, and most of whom would not have been fluent in Hebrew but would have spoken Greek as their primary language. No doubt both groups would have been thankful for a church family to care about them and provide for their needs. They had all accepted Jesus as the Jewish Messiah and certainly numbered among the baptized believers in Jerusalem. Some claimed to notice a pattern (whether real or imagined) of how the food was distributed. To some it seemed that the local or Hebraic Jews were taken care of first and those new to town or Grecian Jews were getting the leftovers or not getting food at all. To some anyway, a clear bias was observed and they brought it to the attention of the apostles.

The apostles' plates were full. They knew they would never be able to adequately address the issue of the widows and food so they suggested that a new layer of leadership be added to the church. They suggested that church members appoint seven men full of the Holy Spirit and full of wisdom to resolve the issue. Their connection with the Holy Spirit would lead them through a difficult issue and they could in turn lead the church.

That is how church leadership has always been intended to work. Men who listen to the Holy Spirit lead the church. It's what we still seek today - Led Leaders.

DIOS LE BENDIGA (God Bless You)

by Aris Ortiz

As a Christian, as a believer, we walk by faith and we must. We read in the Bible about whom to believe, how to believe, when to believe and what to believe. Faith in God is the only one thing that secures our life and eternity, and it is in Jesus Christ that our soul will reach that destination.

God designed the Church as "one body" that we can be part of, and not only be part of the body, but to have an active function in it. We belong together in the body of Christ, and as members of the One Body, we need each other to fulfill God's purpose for eternal salvation. I'm so thankful to God for giving us this opportunity to worship Him together under the same roof, with different languages but in the same Spirit. West Side family is a wonderful family!
